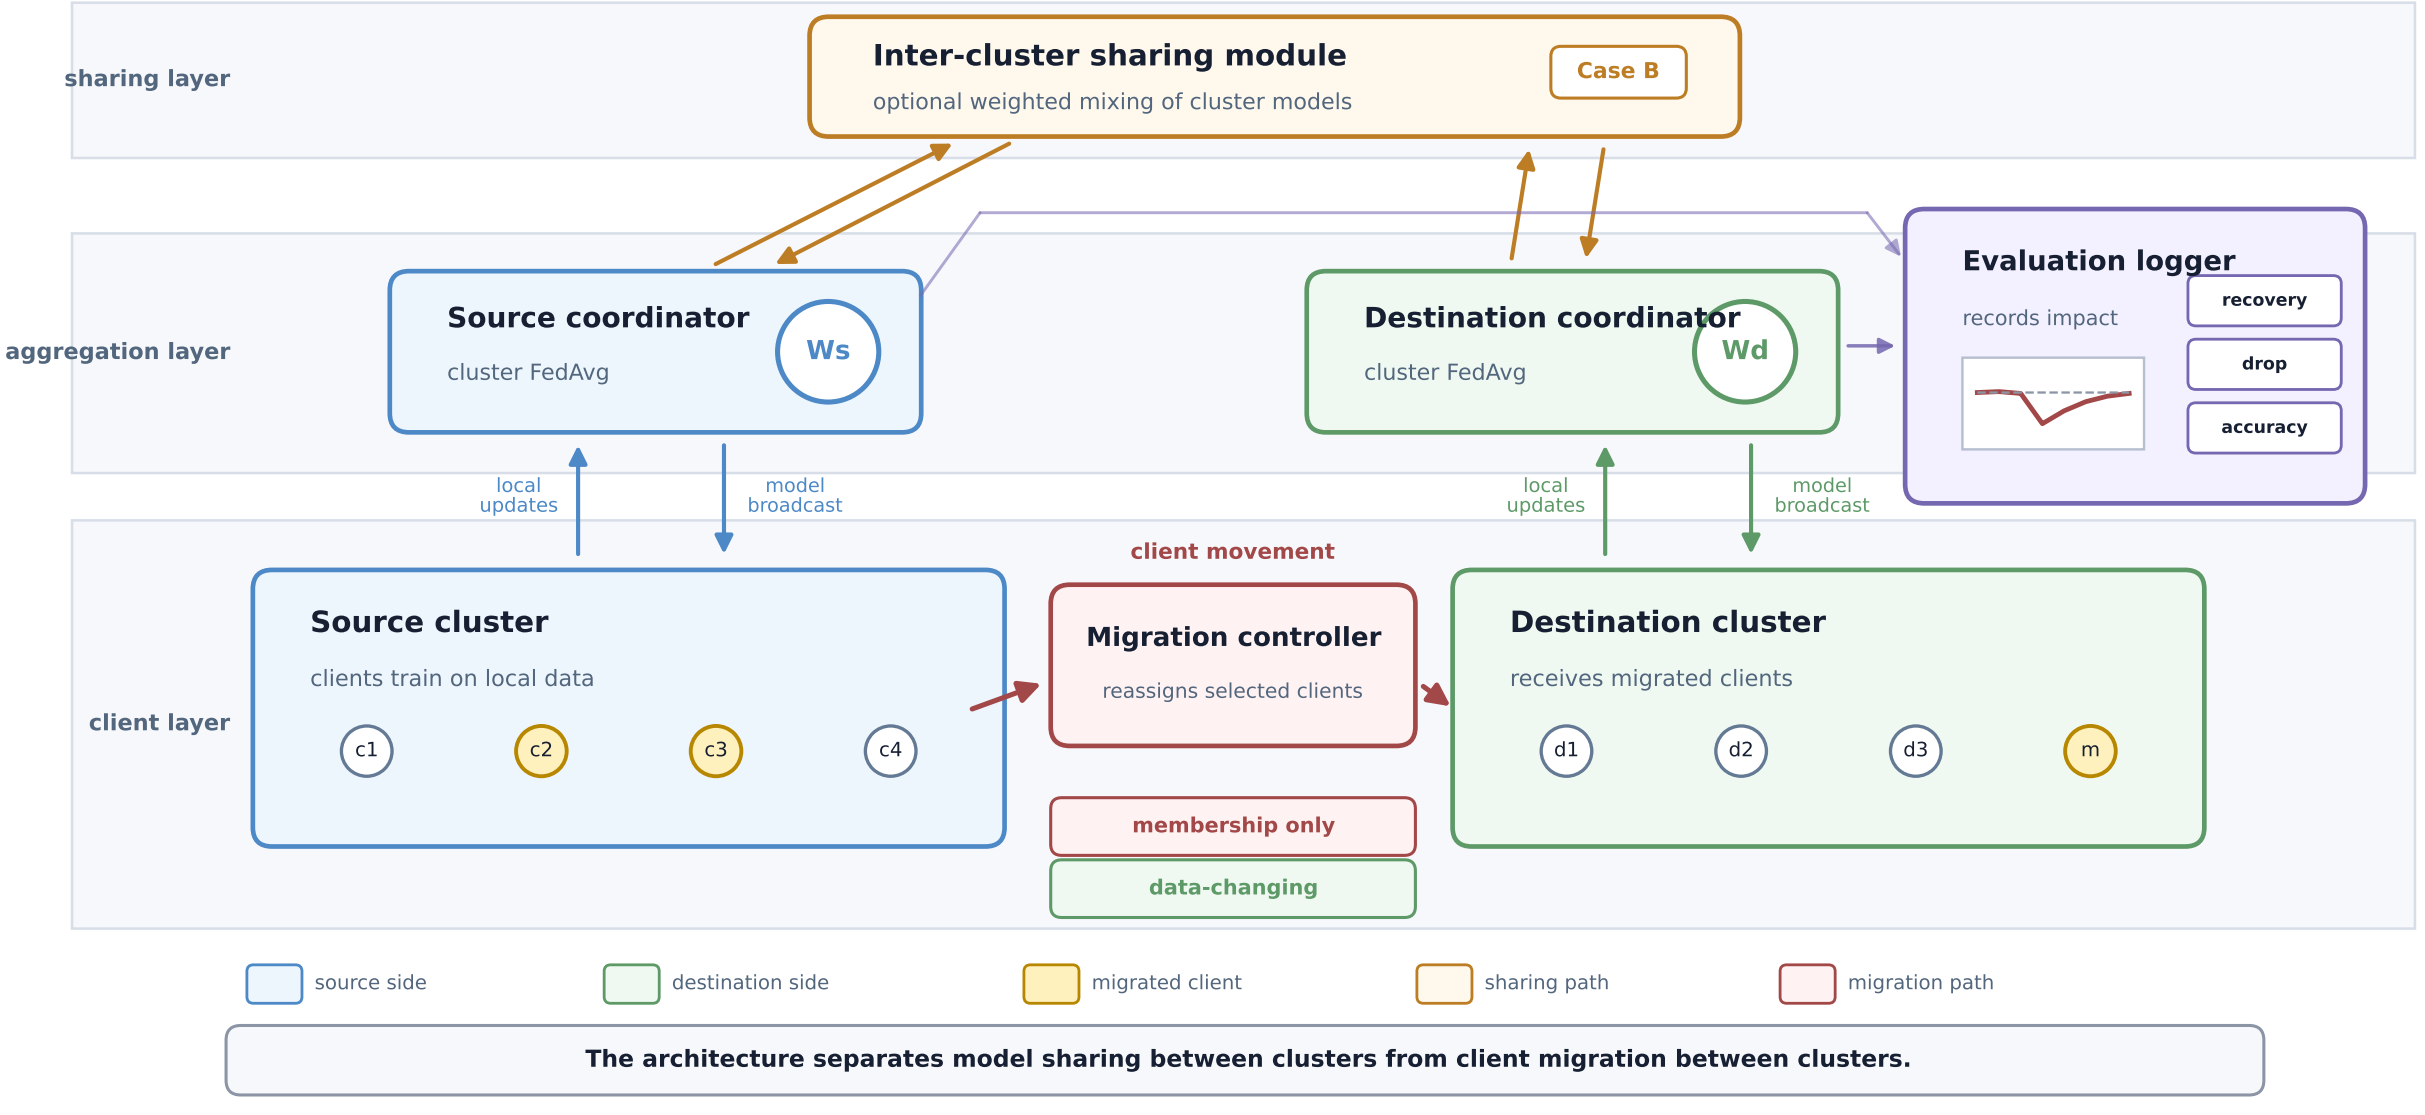
Architecture of Clustered Federated Learning with Migration

Model updates stay inside clusters, optional sharing connects cluster models, and migration changes client ownership.



The architecture separates model sharing between clusters from client migration between clusters.